TVC is a statewide, non-profit organization recognized at state and national levels as a leading advocacy organization for the development of family driven children's mental health policies and services. We believe in keeping families and children together in their homes and communities, and that families and children can thrive when services are provided in a way that is child-centered, family-driven, community-based, and culturally and linguistically competent.

From offering support and advocacy for parents to providing resources for families of children with mental health and emotional issues to encouraging research to help diagnose and treat children with mental health problems, TVC is changing lives.

Over the years, TVC has been recognized for bringing people together that normally would not work together to address issues from individual family needs, to gaps in services within a community, to policy issues at the state level. In FY 2007-08, TVC served over 80,000 children, parents, and professionals across Tennessee.
